ANNEXATION PLAN SURE OF MAJORITY

Leaders Claim Eight Aldermen and Easy Victory in Upper Branch.

ARE NOT SURE OF ADAMS

President of Board and Three Others Placed Among Those Doubtful.

The third house of the City Council, which meets regularly at Eighth and Broad after the white lights go on, predicted last night an easy victory for the annexation ordinance when it comes up before a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday night. The Bigger Richmond measure was the favorite topic among the Council members, city officers and about town, who held informal membership in the third house.

Speculation on the vote gave the ordinance majority ranging from 8 to 12. A. Alderman Adams has been ill for several weeks and will not be able to attend the meeting. While he is claimed by the pro-annexation faction, his vote is counted by neither side.

The annexation camp claims eight members, who, it is said, have indicated their intention to support the measure as it stands. These are Aldermen Powers, Biley, Dwyer, Gilman, Grundy, Gunst, Mitchell and Fuller. Three of the men were members of the Special Annexation Committee, and will be ready to support the ordinance in debate.

Not Sure of Adams. The distinct development of last week was the noncommittal attitude assumed by President Adams. In a statement to The Times-Dispatch he expressed his grave doubts as to the wisdom of passing the measure at this time. The matter, he thought, was of the greatest consequence and not to be rushed through the Council without mature consideration.

While Mr. Adams has not said that he will oppose the ordinance, his vote is claimed by the minority, who appears to favor delay. With him are grouped, for various reasons, Aldermen Guinness, Melton and Nelson. Both sides claim Alderman Paul, who has been careful not to commit himself either for or against the ordinance.

The tentative line-up here suggested is based upon popular prediction and not, except in a few instances, upon the personally stated preferences of the Aldermen themselves. It is entirely probable that when the ordinance comes up on Thursday night, Mr. Adams will find it expedient to vote for it unconditionally. Much the same kind of opposition was predicted in the Common Council, but it failed to stand up under the prevailing opinion of the city. As drawn, it is as nearly perfect as it can be made without the assistance of the courts.

Expect Meeting Thursday. President Adams has issued no call for the special meeting. In a statement to The Times-Dispatch last night he expressed his intention of calling the Board of Aldermen to meet on Thursday night, when he will spend the early part of this week on business. He expects to return to the city on Wednesday and will probably call the Board together on Thursday night.

Although the passage of the ordinance is conceded even by the opposition, the meeting of the Board is expected to develop an interesting fight. Alderman Powers, chairman of the Annexation Committee, will shoulder the brunt of the burden if the discussion should assume the dignified character of a debate. He is also a member of the committee, and has been brought against the annexation plan and will be ready to defend it.

The Council's connection with the ordinance will end with the roll call at the Board meeting. The measure will then go to the Mayor who will sign it. His refusal to sign it will send it to the Henric County Circuit Court, which, as the court of the county contributing most of the new territory, will in all probability be called upon to decide the question.

The Common Council will meet in regular monthly session to-night to throw out a docket which is crowded with recommendations from the Finance and Street Committees. Many of the measures carry appropriations which will require a two-thirds vote, and President Peters asks for a full attendance. Among the ordinances of city-wide interest is one which will amend the "clean-up" law which, after a stormy passage through the committee, makes its debut on the Council floor.

In its amended form the ordinance requires every household to provide its premises with two receptacles for the storage of combustible and non-combustible refuse. Only one of the receptacles is required to be of metal. There are prohibitions against throwing waste paper or garbage in the streets or vacant lots, and violations are made punishable by fine, not to exceed $100. If passed, the law will go into effect on February 1, 1914.

SOCIAL WORKERS TO WAR ON EVIL

First Public Meeting Takes Up
"The Social Needs of Richmond" This Afternoon.

GOV. MANN WILL PRESIDE

Ministers and Civic Workers Invited to Discuss Address
by Dr. Freeman.

In order to stir the public conscience against certain evils existing in this city, the Social Service Federation of Richmond has arranged for two mass-meetings, the first of which will be held in the hall of the House of Delegates this afternoon. Governor Mann will preside, and the discussion will be moderated by Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, who will speak on "The Social Needs of Richmond." A general discussion of the evils of the city will be held in the afternoon at 7 o'clock, when Dr. D. A. Kunk, Miss Sarah Roller, the Rev. J. T. Martin, Dr. J. H. Ricks, the Rev. W. Russell Bowie, the Rev. J. J. Scherer, the Rev. James Buchanan, and the Rev. Nannie Minor, of the Nurses' Settlement, will speak.

Big Meeting To-Night. The second meeting will be held at 8:15 o'clock to-night in the City Auditorium, where Mayor George Ainslie will preside. The address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. W. D. P. Hiss, who is assistant to Dr. Josiah Strong, president of the American Institute of Social Service. He will speak on "The Social Needs of the City."

CALL COMMITTEE ON UNION STATION

Disney to Make Final Effort This Week to End Long Investigation.

ROADS MAY ACT THIS MONTH

Hermitage Station Plan to Be Considered by R. F. & P. and
A. C. L. Directors.

Chairman Disney, of the special Council Committee on Union Station, will call his committee together this week to adopt an official report on the investigation of the station. The report will be submitted to the Board of Aldermen at the regular meeting on November 12. Since the committee has been organized, it has held several meetings, but it has been unable to reach a decision on the matter. It is now expected that the committee will be able to reach a decision by the end of this week.

It's Time to Pass the Report. "It's time to pass the report and get it done," said Mr. Disney last night. "The committee has done everything it can do. It has held many meetings, and it has heard from many witnesses. It is now time to pass the report and get it done." The committee will meet on Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock in the City Auditorium.

Must Settle It Friday. The expected special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday night will probably defer the meeting of the Union Station Committee until Friday night. Mr. Disney said that he had made an effort to get the committee together for other Friday or Monday night. It will not be possible to defer the meeting longer and have the report ready for the monthly Board meeting a week from tomorrow.

On September 11, at the conclusion of the last public hearing on the union station question, the committee adopted a resolution offered by Chairman Pollock, which provided for a two-road scheme outlined by the president of the Atlantic Coast Line and Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Roads. The resolution was supported by Aldermen Grundy and Councilmen Peters, Pollard, Pollock and Seaton. Chairman Disney alone opposed it.

Hit on Report. When the resolution was submitted to the Board at its meeting on October 14, it was adopted by a large majority. It was a statement in brief of the history of the committee's efforts to secure an agreement on a union station, and its recommendation that the city unite with the railroad in the construction of a new station. It was prepared by the committee in accordance with established practice, and transmitted with the resolutions as an explanatory report.

Wait Directors' Action. While interest in the union station investigation has dwindled, the position of the two roads that have committed themselves to the erection of an extensive station on the Hermitage site has been discussed. Both roads have bound themselves by an explicit statement to the Annexation Committee to carry out the plan of the joint station scheme to their respective boards of directors, which will be held this month.

At the last meeting of the committee, Vice-President Alexander Hamilton, of the Atlantic Coast Line, read a memorandum of a tentative agreement made on August 13 between President Emerson, of his road, and President White, of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac, setting forth their conviction that the early erection of a joint station on the Hermitage site was necessary for the present and future needs of the two roads. Plans for the station were exhibited to the committee and endorsed in the tentative agreement.

Build by Terminal Company. The memorandum of the Emerson-White agreement submitted by Mr. Hamilton, concluded with these sections: "It is our judgment that said station should be built and operated by a terminal company, and that said company should acquire and own the whole of said tract of land known as the Old Fair Grounds."

"We think the work of acquiring said land and erecting said station should be entered upon as soon as possible, and to that end the two companies should proceed to have the terminal companies organized, said land appraised and acquired, and the work of construction begun and completed within a reasonable time."

SOUTHSIDE LINES
TO HAVE CHANGES

Traction Company Expects to Run Big Cars Across Free
Bridge Before End of Week.

Numerous changes in the routing of the Southside Lines of the Virginia Railway and Power Company will be inaugurated within the next sixty days. The first change, however, will come before the end of this week, when four cars of the articulated type will be put in operation during the rush hours. The Free Bridge has been carefully examined, and a report on its condition will be drafted after a conference between company engineers and City Engineer Bolling in the next few days. No trouble in getting the necessary permit from the Administrative Board is anticipated.

Plans are now being made to route the Hull Street cars over Mayo Bridge, but this will not be done for probably sixty days. Tracks are now being laid on lower Hull Street and permission to repair its right of way on Fourteenth Street has been granted the company. As soon as Mayo Bridge is used, the Free Bridge will not be used by Hull Street cars at all. The stretch of track between Hull and Perry, on Seventh Street, will be abandoned for passenger service entirely. It will be kept, however, for the use of the Richmond-Petersburg line and for cars going to the barns.

Must Transfer at Main. The Hull Street cars will run to Fourteenth and Main Streets, operating on a shuttle service between Main Street and the north end of Mayo Bridge. At the rush hours several passenger cars will be attached to the point at a time and all will return together. Large cars of the articulated type and others like those on the Highland Park line will be used.

On or before November 25, the company must begin the operation of a half-mile extension out the New Road to Broad Rock Road. The line has been completed with the exception of welling the rails. It will open up considerable territory that is capable of development.

Twenty new cars have been purchased by the company, and several have already arrived and are being prepared for service. Those for use in South Richmond are ready to be sent over.

LUNCHROOM FIGHT

Police Nab Combatants While One Officer Was Trying to Subdue Them.

Police officers, in charge of Sergeant Martin, were passing a lunchroom in Broad Street, near Monroe, last night, when they heard a great commotion inside. They saw two men fighting, and they ran to the assistance of Carter, who was being held by the other man. The police officers were quickly subdued and marched to the Second Police Station.

The white man gave his name as W. T. Martin. When he was searched, a revolver was found in his pocket. Aside from the charge of being drunk and disorderly, the additional charge of carrying a concealed weapon was lodged against him.

The negroes gave their names as Robert Powell and Robert Conner. The former was charged with carrying a concealed weapon. In the fight he put up before his arrest Powell was cut on the head, and he was treated by Dr. J. M. Cofer, City Hospital ambulance surgeon.

Dr. Williamson Improving. Friends of Rev. R. J. Williamson, D. D., will be gratified to know that he is rapidly regaining his health, and his physicians look for his speedy recovery. Dr. Williamson, who was in the hospital, returned to his home at Lexington, N. C., last night, much pleased with his father's condition.

GET TEAMS READY FOR BIG CANVASS

Young Men's Registration Committee to Announce Plans at Banquet on November 10.

Instructions have been issued by President Fairfax C. Jones of the Young Men's Registration Committee to the captains of the various teams that will participate in the registration canvass, requesting them to recruit their teams up to twenty-five men, according to the size of the precinct to which they have been assigned.

The annual banquet of the committee will be held on November 10 at the Masonic Temple, with 400 members in attendance. The workers on the various teams will be assigned to separate tables at which their captain will preside.

A number of prominent speakers have been secured for the occasion, and following the supper, the plans for the campaign will be explained and final instructions issued to the workers.

The campaign this year is on a more comprehensive scale than that conducted in the fall of 1912. At that time only 200 workers were needed, but this year at least 500 must buckle down to the task. The first canvass took place in the fall of 1912, and it is expected that this year it will be even more successful.

The Young Men's Registration Committee is nonpartisan. Its whole object is to increase the electorate of the city. During the last campaign, 210,000 voters were rounded up, and it is expected that several thousand more will be added to the voting population.

Each of the captains will be assigned to a precinct. He will give a block to a worker to be canvassed, and it is expected that this year it will be every eligible man in one night. Careful explanation of the scheme of registration and other information will be distributed to the novices.

DOG THIEVES AT WORK OVER TOWN

Hunting Season Brings Wail
From Owners as Setters and Pointers Disappear.

With the opening of the hunting season come the usual police bulletins to look out for stolen canines and the influx of deer doggies into the "lost and found"—usually "lost"—columns of the newspapers. There is always the cry of dogs lost, strayed or stolen at this season of the year, and most owners know the reason. Good hunting dogs are valuable and are easily sold at profitable prices. It is easy to pick them up, to whistle them over the garden wall, entice them with a bone, or call them with a cheery wailing cry. The hunting dog knows when the season is on, and hears in every passing boy's whistle the promise of a run through dry fields, with a strong scent under his nose.

Dogs stolen here are either sent to other cities and sold or sent into the country to await the coming of the hunt. As a result of a good day's gift in remembrance of a good day's hunt, the thief is able to turn with a well-filled bag of game, and leaves the dog behind, probably selling him to the farmer with whom he boarded, or presenting him as a gift to a neighbor. The thief is able to turn with a well-filled bag of game, and leaves the dog behind, probably selling him to the farmer with whom he boarded, or presenting him as a gift to a neighbor.

It is seldom that a hunting dog is found in the pound, though owners frequently visit it in the hope of finding him. As a rule, the dog is not called on the police, but the police have to make a house-to-house search for him, and only such a search would bring the dog home. The stolen dog is not paraded on the streets, but is kept in a string any more than the burglar carries up and down the street the remains of the safe he has "busted."

The dog is usually kept at home, and if one would heed the advice of a friend, one would watch over his year-old child.

There were three complaints yesterday of dogs being lost, strayed or stolen, and the last of these is the one best bet. He followed a man with a whining wail and a cheerful whistle, and may be now on his way to some wide hunt. The night is never too dark for a dog to find his way home again, but often he listens to a new-found friend, and when he would go home again to his master he cannot break the new chain.

Paraphrase Pulpit

Has it ever occurred to you that there is a chain between the current religious teachings and the current teachings in all other departments of knowledge? Have you asked yourself why this is so?

Would not such a condition result from an endeavor to harmonize sixteenth century theology with twentieth century ideas in other fields of thought? To fit into the life of today and to be of any practical value to the man of to-day, religion must be interpreted in terms of the twentieth century.—Unitarian Publicity Committee.—Advertisement.
